WIND STORM PLAYS HAVOC IN COUNTY

Houses Are Unroofed in Manilla and in Many Other Places Severe Damage is Done

TELEPHONE POLES ARE DOWN

Some Towns in Darkness Over Night
When Lines Are Broken—
Severe Electrical Storm

The storm which passed over Rushville last evening shortly before five o'clock, was preceded by a severe wind that played havoc in several localities in Rush county, probably reaching the peak in the town of Manilla, where the wind did considerable damage.

The storm came from the northwest and swung around the edge of Rush county in a southeasterly direction, taking its course south-through Arlington, but spreading as far east as Rushville, where a heavy gale swept through the streets,
breaking off limbs and blowing down
trees in some places.

In Manilla many tall trees were blown down, and the roof on the residence of Charley Brown was taken off, and a portion of the roof
on the residence of Mrs. Nora Thomas was also blown from the house.

Fences and telephone lines were laid low in Manilla and the high tension lines of the Indianapolis
and Cincinnati Traction company, which passes through Manilla, furnishing light and power for the town, were also blown down, leaving the place in darkness throughout the night.

The traction company also suffered a loss at Morristown when several feet of the trolley wire was blown down and traffic was suspended from six o'clock last night
until almost noon today, when repairs were made. The traffic between Rushville and Connersville was about normal today and late last night.

Arlington had a severe electrical storm, which was preceded by wind, but did not do great damage. However, the town was also in darkness
due to the break in the line near Morristown.

In the northeastern part of the county no damage was reported, although the storm was preceded by a severe electrical storm. The wind did not reach a heavy gale in this section of the county.

In and near Milroy many large trees were blown down.

'WHISKEY RING' CASES OPEN IN FEDERAL COURT

L. Ert Slack, Former District Attorney, Brands Evansville Police Chief as Leader.

BROUGHT WHISKEY TO STATE

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., June 14.— Branding Edgar Schmitt, chief of Evansville police, as one of the leaders of a "Whiskey ring, which is alleged to have brought thousands of gallons of liquor into Indiana from Kentucky, L. Ert Slack, former United States district attorney, made the opening statement today in the federal court, which put 23 Evansville men on trial on charges of conspiring to violate the Reed amendment.

Sixteen of the defendants changed their pleas of not guilty to guilty at the court opening and brought the list of those maintaining innocence down to 23.

Slack declared that evidence will show that Fred Ossenberg, politician desired to get some of the "graff" money, alleged to have been turned over to Chief Schmitt by Kentucky
liquor dealers.

Herbert Males, sheriff of Edinburgh, is one of those fighting the case. He is charged with giving protection to whiskey "runners" and with staging "fake" searches.

Other county and city officials are also included in those who are standing trial.

TRACTION CAR CAUGHT FIRE

Foundation For Rumor That Many People Were Killed

An I. & C. traction car, due in Rushville at 4:05 in the afternoon,
eastbound, caught on fire yesterday in Glenwood about 4:20 o'clock, but the blaze was extinguished before any damage was done. A short circuit is believed to have caused the fire, and it was reported that the car was struck by lightning, which was unfounded.

Telephone calls received here
today from Greensburg and Shelby-ville brought word that a wild rumor had struck those cities that the traction car was struck by lightning and five people killed. The traffic was held up at Glenwood for three hours, while another car was being sent.

AUTOMOBILE LEAVES THE ROAD AT A TURN

Mrs. Dolph Crane of Milroy is Not Injured But Machine is Badly Damaged in Accident

CAR HITS STUMP IN DITCH

An automobile being driven by Mrs. Dolph Crane of Milroy ran off the road at the turn near W. O. Frazee's farm a short distance south of Rushville, Saturday evening, and was badly damaged, but Mrs. Crane was not hurt.

Mrs. Crane was returning home from this city and lost control of the machine at the foot of the hill just where the road heads back towards the south. The car slid off the road down a rather steep embankment, but did not turn over. It ran for a distance of almost sixty feet, it is said, while down in the ditch and was not stopped until it hit a stump.

The left front wheel was torn off, the front axle twisted, the frame
bent and the spindle damaged. Mrs.
Crane was not injured or even frightened and would probably have brought the car back on the road
but for the fact that the stump impeded her progress.

SENATOR HARDING IS KNOWN BY MANY HERE

Republican Nominee For President
Has Spoken in Rushville Twice
in Last 2 Years

WAS SECOND IN THE PRIMARY

Senator Warren G. Harding, who was nominated for president on the Republican ticket at the national convention in Chicago Saturday evening, is well known to scores of Rushville men, having spoken in this city on two different occasions.

His last visit here was on Saturday, May 1, during the primary campaign, when he spoke in his own interests as a candidate for the nomination. The other time he spoke here was in the campaign of 1918 at the coliseum in the city park.

He ran well in this county in the last primary, being second to Major General Wood. Senator Harding is a close personal friend of Senator Watson and it was through the senator's influence that he has been in Rushville twice.

HELP BLIND MAN WHO WAS VICTIM OF THIEF

A fund was being raised today to help Samuel Fisher, who was the victim of a thief last week. A robber entered the beer boarding house and stole clothing belonging to Mr. Fisher, er, worth about $100. The fund was started by the local company of Uniform Rank Knights of Pythias, while at Richmond yesterday, $65 being given there.

Sen. Harding Wanted to be President at Age of Twelve

WARREN G. HARDING, G. O. P. NOMINEE FOR PRESIDENT.

Senator Warren G. Harding's early passion for the cornet blasted a promising career at law.

While studying law in Marion,
Ohio, he joined the village cornet band. The band was naturally a popular institution and it performed at all ceremonies and picnics. Young Harding found it took considerable money to attend all these functions.
Unable to earn enough at his vocation, he abandoned it rather than give up the instrument and the esthetic and corporeal pleasures it gave him.

It is also chronicled that Harding first became a candidate for the office of president of the United States at the age of 12. His father, Dr.
George T. Harding, vouched for the story. Harding announced his candidacy to a group of companions
while the church bell was being tolled
on Washington's birthday.

"You'll see the day when bells will be ringing for me," he told them.
"I'm going to grow up to be a great man and be president myself."

ARM IS CAUGHT IN WRINGER

Lloyd Gartin, Age 4, Seriously Injured This Morning

Lloyd Gartin, four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Gartin, living north of Rushville, suffered a painful injury this morning, when he caught his right arm in a wringer attached to a power washing machine, badly bruising the hand and arm, as far as the elbow. The little boy suffered much pain, and was brought to this city for treatment. It is considered fortunate that no bones were broken, but the skin was badly torn on the arm, before the machine could be stopped.
The hand was only slightly bruised.
After being given treatment, he was said to be resting easy, and will recover in a few days.

CLOSED CAR UPSETS EAST OF RUSHVILLE

Seven-Passenger Machine Carrying Connersville Ball Players Turns
Over in Ditch

NONE OF OCCUPANTS IS HURT.

A large seven passenger closed car, carrying Connersville ball players who engaged in a game with the Rushville Tail Lights, here Sunday afternoon, turned over at a culvert
two miles east of this city, near D.
C. Buell's farm, yesterday evening.
The machine was damaged but none of the seven occupants were hurt, so far as could be learned today.

It was reported that the driver of the closed car, which belongs to Harry Brown of Connersville, had to turn to the wrong side of the road to pass a car which was coming towards Rushville, and did not see the culvert. The left front wheel dropped into the ditch and upset the car. The embankment at the point was not very steep.

The top of the closed machine was torn completely off and the front axle was bent on the left side. It was said that none of the ball players was hurt due to the fact that the machine was not traveling very fast.

SUFFERS BROKEN THIGH IN ACCIDENT

Raymond Turner, 17, is Injured
When Automobile Runs Into Motorcycle—Was in Side Car

ACCIDENT WEST OF THE CITY

Raymond Turner, seventeen years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Turner, living near Henderson, suffered a broken thigh in an accident about one and a half miles west of Rushville Saturday night between 10:30 and 11 o'clock.

He was riding in the side car of a motorcycle, being driven by Henry McDaniel, also of near Henderson, which was hit by an automobile and upset. Rolland McDaniel, brother of the driver of the motorcycle, was also riding in the side car but was not seriously hurt.

The Turner boy was brought to Dr. Sexton's hospital here for treatment.

The side car was demolished and the motorcycle was also damaged.
The name of the driver of the automobile was not learned. The Mc-Daniel boys are sons of Mrs. Eva McDaniel of near Henderson. Turner was taken to his home, where he was reported today as getting along nicely, but the injury was of a most serious nature.

which the graves were decorated.

INTERPRETATION WILL BE LIBERAL

Presidential Nominee Shown by Past Record to be in Favor of Reservations to Treaty

HIS SPEECHES ARE CITED

Senator Harding Plunges Into Huge
Pile of Mail When He Arrives
at Capitol Today

(By United Press.)

Washington, June 14.—Senator Warren G. Harding desires to go before the country as the republican presidential nominee on a strictly literal interpretation of the treaty plank in the Chicago platform, senators believed today.

This view was supported by Harding's own speech and by sources, which made efforts to get the presidential candidate's views on foreign affairs.

The republican treaty plank condemns the treaty as brought back by President Wilson, praises
the senators who voted for the Lodge reservations, declares agreement with foreign nations must conform with the American ideals and with the policies of Washington, and Monroe and favors the principals of an international court to settle disputes.

There is no specific declaration
on treaty ratification.

Harding's speech along these lines
shows how closely he conformed
with the plank.

In a speech in the senate during a treaty debate Harding said:

"The permanent court of international justice to determine all international problems which several nations agree to submit, is strongly apparent."

"With such a court and with a clearly established code of international law, there could never be a dispute in the future that would not drive the nation to the right side," declared Harding.

Harding is also classed as a strong reservationist.

Speaking in the senate on September 11, last, he said:

"We now know there are to be reservations unmistakable reservations, else there will be no treaty,
that must speak in clearest terms."

"The covenant is unthinkable without them. These reservations must be strong and unmistakable."
The one unsettled point of the treaty, which Harding probably would adopt if elected, is said to be whether to abandon efforts to ratify the treaty and work for formation of world court or try to amend the treaty so as to accomplish the same end.

Senator Harding arrived at his office at the capitol today and plunged immediately into a huge pile of mail and telegrams of congratulations from leading republicans
assuring him of their support

FOUR YEAR OLD BOY ATTACKED BY HOG

Ernest Hall, Son of Mr. and Mrs.
Emmett Hall of Near Gings,
Suffers Broken Leg

NOW EXPECTED TO RECOVER

Ernest Hall, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Hall, living
two miles east of Gings, was seriously injured Saturday afternoon,
when he was attacked by an angry
hog in the pasture near the Hall
home, and the little boy was rendered unconscious. He was badly bruised and suffered a broken right leg.

The parents are unable to account for the accident as the little boy wandered away from home by himself and was not found until a short time after the hog had attacked him. His legs were badly bruised and his chest crushed, but no bones broken, except his right leg.
He was taken to his home where he was given medical treatment and later Saturday morning recovered, though "doubtful" and he rather frightened, and his recovery is expected.

DIRE DISTRESS

It is Near at Hand to Hundreds of Nashville Readers

Don't neglect an aching back. Backache is often the kidneys' cry for help. Neglect hurrying to the kidneys' aid. Means that urinary troubles may follow. Or danger of worse kidney trouble.

Here's Rushville testimony.

Mrs. W. A. Wylie, 824 N. Arthur St., says: "I have had kidney trouble and I know what a serious complaint it is and how severely one can suffer from it. My trouble began with a dull, dragging pain across my kidneys and over my hips. I was unable to do my housework for a week and was in misery. Others of my family had taken Doan's Kidney Pills with excellent results so I got some from Pitman & Wilson's Drug Store. The pain in my back soon disappeared.

Thither Miss Bennett, in the role of the heroine, journeys, in company with a confederate, to rob the bank owned by Roger's employer. Billie Rhodes at Mystic Billie Rhodes, the mirthful little star, is very fond of animals. But "Polka-Dot" the pet pig which stars with her in "The Lamb and the Lion," her latest production at the Mystic today has "got her goat," as she expresses it.

"You see, it's like this," said the dark-eyed little star when seen at the studios of the National Film Corporation. "In 'The Lamb and the Lion' I have to feed 'Polka-Dot' out of a baby-bottle and that little animal loves milk better than any baby I ever saw.

"Wherever I go he, like 'Mary's Lamb,' comes following after. I simply can't shake him. The other day the little rascal butted in on a scene where he had no right to be at all, and jumped right into the top of one of the big boots I wear, and there he stuck headforemost with his hind-legs and curly tail wagging from the top near my knee. Of course, it frightened me out of several years' growth and broke up the scene, besides ruining a perfectly good stocking. 'Polka-Dot' was after that milk bottle and concluded I was holding it in my boot."

PURE-BRED SIRES SAVE CASH

Texas Breeder Finds Best Is Cheapest Whether With Cattle, Hogs or Other Animals.

"We have been in the cattle business for more than 35 years and have always kept the best pure-bred sires we could buy."

With this remark in a letter to the federal bureau of animal industry, C. H. Faires, a Texan, applied for enrollment in the "Better Sires—Better Stock" campaign.

"We have always tried to teach the people to use pure-bred sires of all kinds of stock," he added. "Our motto is the 'best is the cheapest' of anything we raise whether it be cattle, horses, mules, sheep, poultry or dogs. We have found this paid as well with dogs as with everything else."—United States Department of Agriculture.

CATTLE SHRINK IN TRANSIT

Owner Loses Considerable by Not Taking Proper Precautions in Shipping Live Stock.

Investigations by the Colorado agricultural college are beginning to show that shrinkage of live stock when shipped to market can be greatly reduced. "The most important thing is a comfortable car and not much crowding. The next thing is to have the animals well fed and contented when they are loaded and until they are sold at the terminal market. In other words, plenty of feed and water and comfortable quarters are most important."

"Some farmers," says R. W. Clark, live stock specialist for that institution, "ship regularly with little or no shrinkage, while others at all times have enormous shrinkage."

Tired Out?

Do you know that languidness, that "awful tired feeling," heaviness, lame or weak back, sore muscles, stiff or swollen joints, rheumatic pains, lumbago, in the great majority of cases, indicate kidney trouble?

get promptly and effectively to restore weak, overworked or diseased kidneys and bladder to a healthy condition.

Mrs. Robert Blair, 611 S. 2nd Street, Terre Haute, Ind., writes: "I cannot now recall the exact date, but I was greatly getting backache. Morning I would arise feeling very tired and having headache, and see that the backache before my eyes. I saw many advertisements for kidney pills, and I decided to try them. After taking them a few weeks I found my trouble disappeared. The backache stopped and my kidneys were restored to healthy condition. I am now able to do my usual work and my vision is no longer blurred. My recovery is entirely due to Foley Kidney Pills, which I highly recommend."

DESTROYS FIELD OF CORN

Cut Worms Invade John Knecht's Farm Near Gings.

County Agent D. D. Ball was called this morning to the John Knecht farm, near Gings, where 20 acres of corn had been destroyed since Friday. An investigation disclosed that it was a cut worm of the same variety that destroyed a fifteen acre tract of corn for John Nelson in one night last week. County Agent Ball stated today that the cut worm is even as destructive as the army worm, and should be watched closely. Mr. Knecht will probably replant the 20 acres of corn.

TWO AFFIDAVITS ARE FILED

Two affidavits were filed in Squire Stech's court this afternoon against William Ryon, one for provoke and the other for carrying concealed weapons. Both charges were preferred by Ed Huber. The concealed weapon charge alleges that he carried a knife, with a blade longer than 2 1/2 inches. Both complaints fix June 13 as the day for the alleged crimes.

FAIRM STOCK

DISEASES CARRIED BY DOGS

Animal Should Be Handled in Such Way as Best to Further Welfare of the Community.

Many diseases of man and domestic animals are carried by dogs. Everybody, of course, knows that the dog is responsible for rabies, but it is not so generally known that the dog is equally responsible for other fatal diseases. Among them may be mentioned hydatid and gid in man and stock, tapeworm in man and especially in children, tongue worm in man and stock, "measles" in sheep, cysticercosis of the liver in stock. Some of these parasites depend so absolutely on dogs as carriers that they would become extinct if dogs were not available as hosts. Dogs probably play a part, also, in the spread of diseases due to fungi, such as ringworm and favus, and they certainly play a part in the spread of diseases that may be carried by fleas and ticks.

The United States department of agriculture, while recognizing the dog as a useful domestic animal, insists that care must be taken to minimize the danger of diseases spread by them. In a general way, say the specialists of the department, there are three kinds of dogs—the ownerless dog, the other person's dog, and your own dog.

FAIRM STOCK

There Are Three Kinds of Dogs—The Ownerless Dog, the Other Person's Dog and Your Own Dog.

The stray dog which recognizes no owner, they say, does not fit into the modern scheme of civilization and must be eliminated. A dog that is allowed by the owner to wander at large will have substantially the same habits of life, the same sort of food, and be practically as dangerous as the ownerless dog. You have the right to insist, they point out, that such dogs keep off your premises.

Your own dog should be handled in such a way as best to further the welfare of the dog and the community. He should be kept in restraint and not allowed the full freedom of the house or even of the outside premises. He should not be allowed to be familiar with people, and especially with children. The dog should be kept free from external parasites by frequent baths and, if necessary, other appropriate measures, and should be freed from internal parasites by suitable measures and kept free by adequate attention to his food. He should only be allowed to leave the yard or the kennels in company with some person, and wherever conditions call for it should be kept in leash. When away from home the dog should be muzzled with a reliable metal muzzle, not with a strap muzzle that would be cruel to the dog if tight enough to be effective and which is usually so loose as merely to give a false sense of security, since it permits the dog to bite.

trees were blown down and telephone wires were also put out of commission on many lines. Farmers suffered heavily by the loss of small chickens which were killed by the wind and rain. A valuable sow belonging to Pleas Reddington, near the Rush-Decatur county line, was struck by lightning.

The Bell Telephone company's lines between Rushville and Indiana-

In Rushville many limbs and small trees were blown down, but the damage was not as great as during the storm of two weeks ago.

The Republican Ticket

Where is there a boy whose mother has not told him that some day he may be president of the United States?

Every boy's mother has that fond hope for him, and regardless of his station in life, the form of our government makes it possible, as the life of Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio, nominated for president by the republican national convention at Chicago, so well illustrates.

Born in a log cabin near an obscure little town in Ohio, Senator Harding has gradually risen in life through sheer ability and not through any advantages which came from the environment of early life.

The life story of Senator Harding is typically American. It is true to the ideals of every American mother for her son. By hard work, constant application to his chosen profession and playing the game square the man who has just been so signally honored, rose to a position of prominence. He has conducted himself in public life so that he is regarded as thoroughly honest and a rugged American.

Senator Harding was the logical man of the four leading candidates in the convention, for the delegates to turn to. His campaign for the nomination was modest as well as honest. He nor any of his admirers impugned the motives of other candidates or their co-workers. Neither directly nor by implication did he ever question the integrity of his opponents. It was not a part of his campaign to leave the impression that all opposed to him were porch climbers and were without principle.

He followed the policy of live and let live. Senator Harding believed—and so stated in his primary campaign speeches—that the welfare and the security of the nation came before the personal desires of any individual and that he did not want to be president if it were not for the best interests of the United States.

Senator Harding is a man of foresight and rare good judgment, as his career in public life has plainly disclosed. His speech in the senate on the night this country declared war with Germany, will not soon be forgotten. He took issue with the administration in declaring that the United States was going to war to save the world for democracy. The senator from Ohio declared in an impassioned address that the United States was called to arms because her rights on the seas had been invaded. How well he spoke, we all well know. The American people went into battle against a nation which had shown that it had no respect for the laws which had governed the seas for years, nor for the opinion of the United States government.

Senator Harding as a member of the United States senate for six years, has never dodged an issue that came before that body.

He voted for prohibition.

He voted for woman suffrage.

He voted for the child labor law.

He voted for the minimum wage scale as provided in the Nolan bill.

He voted for bills advancing the cause of labor.

He voted for the Cummins-Esch railroad bill.

He voted for all conservation measures such as the water power bill over which there has been a struggle for thirteen years.

He voted for the oil land leasing bill which has been up for ten years.

He voted for all measures to reduce war expenditures.

He stood for the peace treaty with the Lodge reservations.

He stands for the budget system in the national government.

He stands for voluntary military training.

He stands for America first.

In Calvin Coolidge, governor of Massachusetts, the republicans have for vice-president, a man of unusual attainments, who had never been known outside of his own state, until the Boston police strike thrust upon him the opportunity to show that he was equal to any emergency.

The story of Coolidge's life shows that his many years of quiet work and devotion to duty prepared him for the great which was to make him nationally famous. When his time came, Coolidge acted with courage and conviction. The labor unions predicted his defeat for governor in the last election, but he was elected by one hundred and twenty-five thousand majority.

Coolidge is a man who never sought public office, but one who has been sought. Being a quiet man by nature, he did not seem in early life to be fitted for the career which he has followed, but his neighbors in Northampton, Mass., realized his attainments and elected him to the city council. Then he was chosen for city solicitor; then mayor; then senator. So in time he became president of the Massachusetts senate; lieutenant governor and finally governor.

If some of the metropolitan newspapers had had a few more staff correspondents at the republican national convention, it is doubtful if any of us would have been able to find out what was going on there.

The action of the republican convention in nominating the man who spent the least money in the pre-convention campaign, was an effective rebuke to men who try to buy a presidential nomination.

The newspaper correspondents all seem to agree that Harding is honest and is a rugged American. What more recommendation could a presidential candidate want?

CALVIN COOLIDGE

Bay State Governor is Vice Presidential Nominee

1872—Born at Plymouth, Vt.
1895—Graduated from Amherst College.
1905—Married Grace A. Goodhue of Burlington, Vt.
1907—Elected to Massachusetts House of Representatives.
1912—Elected to state Senate.
1916—Elected Lieutenant Governor.
1918—Elected Governor.
1919—Re-elected Governor.

"Do the day's work. If it be to protect the rights of the weak, whoever objects, do it! If it be to help a powerful corporation better to serve the people, whatever the opposition, do that! Don't hesitate to be as revolutionary as science or as reactionary as the multiplication table! Don't expect to build up the weak by pulling down the strong! Don't hurry to legislate; give administration a chance to catch up with legislation."

The foregoing is the political creed of Calvin Coolidge, "law and order" governor of Massachusetts.

Coolidge came into prominence as a figure of national importance during the Boston police strike, when the manner in which he conducted this affair brought forth applause from all over the country.

The governor took command of the situation after a night of rioting, ordered out the state guard, re-equipped a new police force and refused to deal with the "strike" element.

He then faced the Massachusetts electorate on the issue of "Law and order" and was re-elected by a plurality of 125,000. This signal victory placed him in conspicuous light before the nation and won the personal congratulations of President Wilson.

Governor Coolidge is not an orator. He speaks but seldom, but what he says is always clear and to the point. His manner is reserved, almost cold, and he inherits the traditional New England aloofness. He is a typical Yankee in many respects, having been born on a farm up in Vermont, where he worked as a boy, knowing few luxuries. His hobbies are home and study.

Coolidge was born on Independence Day, 1872, at Plymouth, Vt. He is a descendant of John and Mary Coolidge, who settled in what is now Watertown, Mass., about 1630.

He was graduated from Amherst College in 1895. After a 20 months' study of law he was admitted to the bar of Northampton, Mass. He began his public career four years later when admitted to the city council there.

In 1905 he married Grace A. Goodhue, of Burlington, Vt., a former school teacher. They have two sons, John, 14, and Calvin Jr., 12, who are at school in Northampton.

Coolidge's political career has been as follows:

1899—Northampton City council.
1900—Northampton city solicitor.
1907—Member Massachusetts House of Representatives.
1910—Mayor of Northampton.
1912—Member Massachusetts Senate.
1914—President of Senate.
1916—Lieutenant Governor.
1918—Governor.
1919—Re-elected Governor.

Successful Author

Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett was earning a small wage as a school teacher in Tennessee when she began to write. It is said that the stamps with which her first story was sent to the magazines were earned by picking blackberries. Years later, when the author, in "Little Lord Fauntleroy" was at the zenith of her popularity as a novelist and playwright, her annual income was calculated in the round at $500,000.

Anything that requires mental effort is never popular.

Nobody ever succeeded in anything unless he kept at it.

Enemies

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

PEOPLE are known and judged quite as much by the kind of Enemies they make as by the kind of Friends they have.

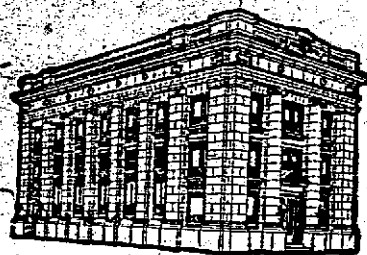

Choose your Enemies. Many a man or woman has been handicapped by having some one else choose their Enemies for them. For Enemies must needs come to every forceful character, sooner or later. And if you do the choosing of your Enemies, you know the kind you have to deal with.

Choose your enemies. Another strong point about choosing your own Enemies, is that you can study them to better advantage than if some one else chose them for you and acted as a coach to them. For many a man, by close application to the study of his Enemies, can finally make them his Friends!

Choose your Enemies. Enemies have the most to do with and cluster most around those who are Positive and Definite as Doers. To have big plans and important work to perform and to go ahead with it without fear or favor, is to create Enemies from somewhere. But enemies never come around unless you become Effective and Monumental in your efforts. Then the Enemies get busy.

Choose your Enemies. But never for a single moment allow the work of your Enemies to deter you from your forward fight. Accept them as a matter of course, never allowing yourself to get down to their level. For then they may swoon down upon you and bewilder and defeat you.

Choose your Enemies. And remember that your enemies are your friends in disguise. They are the men who have a right over which they may finally wait as your friends.

HOW MUCH MONEY DO YOU CARRY IN YOUR POCKET?

Money is used as a measure of value—it is necessary for all buying and selling. When you carry it in your pocket, even if you do not lose it, it is "out of circulation" and the business world is not able to use it until you spend it.

But if you deposit it in a bank you make money "easy" thus helping yourself and the community.

When you expect to use money soon the best way is to have a checking account.

But if you expect to wait several months before spending—then use the Savings Bank Plan.

Sen. Harding Wanted to Be President at Age of Twelve

Continued from Page One—Senator Harding was born Nov. 2, 1865, near Corsica, Morrow County, Ohio. In 1881 he was graduated from Iberia College, in the same county. Three years later he took a fling at the newspaper business by purchasing the Marion Star. He married Miss Florence King of Marion in 1891 and in 1899 was elected state senator. He was re-elected in 1901 and at the close of his second term won the election to the office of lieutenant-governor of the state. He was defeated for governor in 1910. In 1912 he helped nominate William Howard Taft for the presidency and two years later was elected United States senator from Ohio. In 1916 he acted as temporary chairman of the republican national convention at Chicago.

Harding's experience as a "devil" in the office of the Caledonia, Ohio, Argus stood him in good stead when he took over the Marion Star. The consideration was around $300. He was business manager, editor, reporter, type setter, pressman and collector. Harding recalls that half of the time it was a tossup whether he or the sheriff would get out the next issue.

When Blaine ran for the Presidency he found a staunch supporter in Harding. Harding's enthusiasm reached the fever point on the eve of the national convention. His paper was heavily in debt. He wanted to attend that convention. And he also wanted a "Jim Blaine" hat. He had plenty of railroad mileage, allowed the newspapers in those days. So he hit upon the idea of trading advertising space in the Star for a "Jim Blaine" hat. He succeeded and attended the convention and waved that plug hat whenever and wherever it would serve his political hero.

Shortly afterwards the Star crashed on the financial rocks and Harding gathered what he could from the wreckage and stepped out. He was hired as a reporter on the Marion Mirror. It was a Democratic newspaper and solidly back of Grover Cleveland. Harding paraded into the office wearing his plug hat and brought down on himself the wrath of the editor. Harding was unconcerned and kept on flaunting that republican headpiece everywhere he went. He overstepped all bounds when he succeeded in inserting several editorial comments decidedly uncomplimentary to Grover Cleveland and he was thrown out of the office. The editor simply couldn't restrain himself in the face of this double outrage.

Harding's taste for the newspaper business developed into an insatiable appetite and with the assistance of a friend, who in turn enlisted the financial support of other friends, re-purchased the Star. He later bought up his partner's share and conducted the paper himself. This time Harding found the road to prosperity and he made a daily out of his paper. Much of the success of the enterprise is attributed to his wife, the daughter of a banker and the possessor of a keen business mind.

Harding developed into an orator of ability and found himself in great demand for the stump. He helped a number of candidates into office and decided to try for an office for himself. So he ran for the state senate and won out. Harding won an important place in the law-making body and advanced rapidly until his reelection in 1901 when he became the republican leader of the senate.

He decided to capitalize his steadily growing popularity and announced his candidacy for lieutenant-governor. With Myron T. Herrick, gubernatorial candidate, he rode into office without difficulty. From then on his influence in the republican party increased until he was accorded national recognition. In 1910 he was nominated for governor but fell before the Democratic landslide of that year.

William Howard Taft and Harding had been warm personal friends for a long time and in 1912 it was decided to entrust Harding with Taft's nominating address before the national convention in Chicago. His strong personality, striking appearance and oratorical ability made him one of the outstanding figures of that turbulent session.

In 1914 there was a persistent demand for Harding to declare himself a candidate in the senatorial race. He was hesitant and held off because of his friendship for Joseph B. Foraker, speaker of the house, who was also a candidate. Following a meeting between the two Harding stepped into the arena and defeated his democrat opponent, T. S. Hogan, attorney general for the state.

Harding is tall, handsome, im-cut, topped off by a high, broad sure of attracting attention in or pressive in appearance and a figure is clean-shaven, his face is clear out of a distinguished gathering. He forehead. His hair is gray and closely cropped. Altogether the ensemble reminds one of a grim-lipped patrician of the Roman senate.

WHOLE LIFE WAS MISERABLE FROM STOMACH TROUBLE

Prominent citizen suffered tortures from indigestion, dyspepsia, gas in stomach, constipation, nervousness and dizzy spells. Dreco gave prompt relief.

"I know what it is to suffer the tortures of indigestion, dyspepsia, and gastritis, and the other ails which go along with them, and I also know what it means to get rid of them," said Mr. C. B. Hendrix, a prominent farmer near Huntington, Ind.

"After each meal I'd fill up with gas; my stomach burned like fire, and I had griping pains. My bowels were badly constipated; I suffered from dizziness and vertigo and became nervous, so that I slept poorly and would rise in the morning feeling tired out.

"I had taken much medicine, designed to cure such troubles, but I never got more than temporary relief. I think the reason Dreco has done me so much good is because it acted on the rest of the trouble. It got my bowels moving regularly; cleared my liver off, and strengthened my stomach. I've taken three bottles of Dreco and my troubles have been entirely relieved. I sleep sound; have a good appetite, and feel good all over."

Dreco is made from the juices of twelve different herbs, roots, barks and leaves, which act directly on the stomach, liver, kidneys, bladder and the blood, and tends to relieve constipation, headaches, rheumatism, catarrh, biliousness, dizzy spells, heart fluttering, gas on the stomach and other troubles.

Dreco is now sold by all progressive druggists and is being especially introduced here by Willie's Advantage.

Jimmie was telling at the dinner table how two of his little schoolmates had got into a fight and how Willie had put it all over Dan. "Well," spoke up younger brother, "I think he would, 'cause he's two times Dan's heavy."

Over fifty years ago a young physician practiced widely in a rural district and became famous for his uniform success in the curing of disease. This was Dr. Pierce, who afterwards established himself in Buffalo, N. Y., and placed one of his prescriptions, which he called "Golden Medical Discovery," in the drug stores of the United States so that the public could easily obtain this very remarkable tonic, corrective and blood-maker. Dr. Pierce manufactured this "Discovery" from roots and barks—a corrective remedy, the ingredients of which nature had put in the fields and forests, for keeping us healthy. Few folks or families now living have not at sometime or other used this "Golden Medical Discovery" for the stomach, liver and heart. Over twenty-four million bottles of this tonic and blood remedy have been sold in this country.

THE ECONOMY CAR

All doubt of the Overland Four being entitled to the claim it makes was removed during the last week of April when demonstrations in ninety-seven cities throughout the United States produced a national average of 25.2 miles to the gallon of gasoline for the Overland Sedan with TRIPLEX SPRINGS.

This Economy Record

is all the more impressive because it represents tests in every section of the country under all sorts of conditions and over every class of roads, whether rough, smooth, hilly or level. In the south the average ranged from 27.7 to 20.5 miles. In Texas the test was made over city and country roads with windows open to a 25-mile wind. In the east the average for the various states ran from 26.4 to 18.9 miles. In the middle west the lowest average recorded was 19.8 and the highest 29.8 to the gallon. In the west the average was from 28.2 to 22.1 miles.

MARKERS TO BE SUPPLIED

Government Will Provide Headstones for War Veterans' Graves

Graves of the Civil War Veterans may now be marked with a stone marker, if the family so desires, according to word received by Dan Kinney, a veteran, who will gladly make application for the stone markers, if the family will notify him within the next few days. Mr. Kinney has received a supply of application blanks from the government, and the local G. A. R. organization is anxious to supply every grave in Rush county, no matter in what cemetery, with a proper headstone for the graves. A recent compilation of data revealed that many graves are unmarked, and relatives of the deceased should consult Mr. Kinney at once for application for one of the markers.

BE READY WITH SECOND CROPS

(National Garden Bureau)

Keep the ground working. Begin to think now, when there is a wealth of green vegetables in sight of the cold winter months, when every vegetable green or canned means the paying out of a substantial sum of money, for vegetables are by no means the tail of the kite of the high cost. Even on the smallest patch there is something that can be raised and put away in the cellar, either a root crop in its natural state or a canned or dried crop.

The radishes, young onions, and lettuce are now either usable or within sight of harvesting. When they are gone, the ground is available. Green peas always have a larger stretch of vacancy than any other early vegetable. It is usual with an old time gardener to put the pea patch into turnips. It is a wise plan, but nobody wants quite as many turnips as the ground space for the peas usually furnishes. The twelfth of July, wet or dry, is the dictum to plant turnips for winter, but they may be planted before. However, that is the date which clears off the early peas.

Of the easily grown root crops which may be put in the cellar, these are sure fine crops, and once put in the ground, hoed enough to put down the largest growth of weeds, may be left to their own devices till harvested; turnips, carrots and beets. Parsnips and vegetable oyster may be left in the ground over winter and dug when wanted.

Sow part of the pea patch to turnips for an early fall crop of the white variety not to be stored and then put in the big yellows or rutabagas to be put in the cellar. They are better keepers and better flavor than the whites for winter storage.

Sow carrots as a second crop, thin them to six inches and let them grow till a hard frost before digging. Likewise beets. Anything that can be put in the cellar is so much money in the pocket these days.

A dozen late cabbages to store, means real money when you have to pay ten cents a pound.

The real secret of gardening is to keep the ground busy and lay something by.

There are always second and even third crops of sweet corn and string beans to be planted, to be canned, and dried as well as eaten fresh, but the one item of the vegetable garden that can be most economically handled is the root crop. They need no previous preparation. Merely a cool cellar, so that they will not shrivel is enough. If the cellar is too warm because of a furnace, store them in dry sand or earth with an occasional sprinkling and they may be dug out plump and full any time when desired.

Think how far two pecks of carrots will go, compared with buying them by the pound at the grocers, and the same with beets, turnips, and even onions.

When the early spring and summer vegetables are done, put in something for late summer or fall and always with an eye to the winter supply. You can plant up till the middle of July.

UTAH HOLDS CONVENTION

Indications Democrats Will Send Delegates Uninstructed

SALT LAKE CITY, June 14—When Utah Democrats went into session here today at their state convention indications were that delegates chosen would be sent uninstructed to the national convention in San Francisco.

Eight delegates and a like number of alternates were to be elected. Paul H. Ray, temporary chairman of the state central committee, said a permanent state organization would be one of the first matters of business to be taken up at the convention.

What One Big Oil Company Found in Investigating the Gasoline Situation

"One of the oil companies has compiled some data which shows that the average water-cooled automobile runs about 12 MILES ON A GALLON of gasoline compared with about 18 MILES A GALLON for the average air-cooled car."—Wall Street Journal, May 8, 1920.

THE advantage of air cooling is established. And it is increased by Franklin light weight and flexibility—not only in economy but also in comfort and reliability. Proof—owners' records:—

20 miles to the gallon of gasoline
12,500 miles to the set of tires
50% slower yearly depreciation

(National Averages)

The increasing timeliness of the above Franklin results is strikingly shown by the following figures—the latest evidence of Franklin popularity:

80% increase in production
150% increase in demand

Saving 3 Hours 53 Minutes on Every Bushel of Corn

MR. Frank D. Gardner in Successful Farming says that, with man power, from plowing to feed trough it takes four hours and thirty-four minutes work to raise one bushel of corn. The use of power machinery has reduced this to forty-one minutes, thus enabling one man to do the work of six.

The importance of this saving of time may be realized when we learn that for 1920 Iowa is short 50,000 farm hands. Similar conditions are reported from the Middle West generally. This presents a serious problem.

The answer is gasoline power used in tractor, truck and automobile. The food supply of the future depends upon gasoline.

Last year the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) provided the Middle West with power for 16,438,000 motor miles a day. Much of this went to the farms to help multiply the crops. Much of it was used in motor trucks to help the farmer get his crops to market.

The demand for gasoline was great, and the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) was ready with the supply. That silent, watchful readiness was based upon the foresight and resourcefulness of an organization trained to its task through years of experience.

The manufacture of gasoline is not the sole function of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). Equally important is its service of placing the gasoline where the consumer can get it easily and quickly.

More than 1,300 Service Stations and over 7,000 tank wagons and trucks are operated by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to make gasoline and lubricating oils constantly available for increasing the 1920 crops.

The Rushville Tail Lights won over the Central team from Connersville, on the West Third Street diamonds yesterday afternoon, the score being 3 to 0. The game was called with two men out in the first of the eighth, on account of rain.

A home run by Smith and a three base hit by Niederfer featured the game for the locals. Starn for Connersville pitched a good game, but he was found for 7 hits by the Tail Lights. Each side made two errors.

TWO TEAMS TIED IN THE FACTORY LEAGUE

Rushville Furniture Co. Defeats Park Team, 17 to 14, Tying It Up

WINNERS ARE HEAVY HITTERS

The Rushville Furniture Company's baseball team evened up the series Saturday when they defeated the Park Furniture Company's team 17 to 14 on the Belmont diamonds, making each team winning two games from each other.

The Rushville Furniture team will play the tie game in the near future, but will play the Francis team next Saturday, in the factory league.

The winners of the game Saturday were heavy hitters, making 20 hits and bringing in the 17 runs. The park team made ten hits.

The sixth and seventh innings were big ones for the Rushville team, when five runs were brought in the sixth and six in the seventh, which sewed the game up for them.

The Park team had the game won up until the sixth, when the score was six to five. A rally started in the eighth inning, brought them four more runs which looked dangerous for a while to the winners.

Hobart pitched for the winners and Smith for the losers.

"DON'T YOU LIKE THE STORY?"

We often feel like putting this question to those who scowl and squint when they read. Without realizing it we do the same ourselves. Anyone who finds it necessary to scowl and squint when reading should have his eyes examined and save trouble by wearing correctly made and properly fitted glasses.

A Fifteen Million Dollar Industry for Indianapolis and Indiana

This is possibly the largest job of industrial financing ever undertaken by Indiana in her own right. It is of such magnitude that a syndicate of Indianapolis banks, trust companies and investment dealers has been formed to handle it. To the trained financier, the attractiveness of this issue, from an investment standpoint, is immediately obvious.

In the first place, you are putting your money into a great, established industry right here at home—an industry managed by men whom you know, perhaps personally—men with reputations for doing big things successfully, and for making their successes stick.

Into the Midwest enterprise have gravitated leading Indianapolis manufacturers, capitalists, and business men—the type of men who have finally helped to lift Indianapolis out of the overgrown country town class and planted her firmly on an equality basis with the other recognized industrial centers of America.

The Midwest Engine Company of Indianapolis is the preface to the industrial history of the greater Indianapolis that is to be.

It embodies the new Indianapolis winning spirit and determination and vision. And yet, in policy, it does not depart from precedents of conservatism and steady management established by the older industrial successes of the city. The only essential in which the Midwest Engine Company differs from the half dozen or so other big, notable industrial successes of Indianapolis lies in the manner and circumstance of its origin and growth.

The growth of the Midwest Engine Company has been necessarily sudden.

It sprang into existence almost over night in response to the country's war needs. The war history of the Midwest Engine Company should be prized by every loyal Indianapolis man, woman and child. Its original organization was as much a patriotic move as a business move. Somebody had to produce a terrific amount of horse power in an incredibly short time—and Indiana capital and business experience rushed forward to meet the emergency. Three-quarters of a million horse power was produced by the Midwest Engine Company in record-breaking time. Midwest made good on every commitment. Among all the turbines produced during the emergency, Midwest turbines made the best showing in governmental tests. Midwest internal combustion engines did trustworthy service on the actual field of battle, and brought world credit to the manufacturing skill of Indianapolis.

The war ended as suddenly as it had begun.

At the time the armistice was signed, the Midwest Engine Company was devoting ninety-eight per cent of its facilities to war work. During the following year, a smooth switch was made to peace production, without loss of time or money. In 1919 the company operated at a profit. Considering the magnitude of the industry, skillful change from war to peace production, on a profit basis, was a supreme demonstration of the Midwest Engine Company's sheer business ability.

The most conclusive demonstration of Midwest ability, however, lies in the judgment and long-headedness displayed by the management in laying out a permanent manufacturing plan for the future—in selecting something to make.

The present period of market fluctuation and buying restlessness of the country was anticipated by Midwest and prepared for. The terrific demand for the basic necessities made by the Midwest Engine Company proves that in catering to the unwavering demand for food, Midwest policy is fundamentally sound. No matter what happens in this country or in the foreign market, there can never be any disturbance in the marketing of Midwest products—because the need for Midwest products is basic and founded solely on necessity. As long as men must eat, Midwest Utilitors and Midwest Truck and Tractor Engines will sell in greater quantities than they can ever be produced.

The safety of your investment in Midwest stock lies in the following facts:

1. You are putting your money into a big, going institution which has made money from the beginning and is going to go on making money permanently.

2. You are putting your money in the hands of men you know, men whose ability is a proved quantity, men who have lived with you and who are going to go on living with you and coming in daily contact with you. THIS BEATS BACKING STRANGERS.

3. The most courageous, and, at the same time, the most conservative and safe type of Indianapolis business man can be found on the board of directors of the Midwest Engine Company. These men are the very ones to whom you would go for sound business advice in any important situation. Everything with which they have ever been associated has been successful in a big way.

4. Today there are more than thirty thousand unfilled orders for Utilitors alone on the books of the Midwest Engine Company, and the demand for the new Midwest, high speed, heavy duty truck and tractor engine is even greater. If Midwest made nothing but this engine and the Utilitor, it would be one of the biggest industries in America.

5. But Midwest makes other things besides—notably a standard line of pumps and turbines at the Anderson plant—a line bought consistently and in great quantities throughout America and abroad.

6. Your investment is secured by actual physical assets of surpassing value—a main plant covering sixty-five acres of ground, with floor space totaling 608,000 square feet—a branch plant at Anderson covering five acres with 98,000 square feet of floor space—acres of the most modern equipment—a merchandise inventory of well over two million dollars over and above the land, buildings and equipment appraised of more than five and a quarter millions. And all this leaves scarcely be computed in dollars and cents.

7. The Midwest Engine Company has developed and is marketing a machine that will unquestionably become to the farm what the best-known small car has become to the road. Utilitors will in time be as plentiful as this same noted small car. The man who gets an interest in the Midwest Engine Company now is long-headed.

8. This time you get an allotment of common stock along with your secured 8 per cent, tax-exempt preferred—and, so far as your common goes, there is no limitation on how much you can make on it excepting the physical limitations of the big Midwest plants. Incidentally, this is the first time you have ever had an opportunity to participate in the earnings of one of Indianapolis' big industries.

9. Leading banks, trust companies and investment dealers of Indianapolis are offering this issue. This is the most far-reaching industrial move ever undertaken by the financial interests of Indiana. Are you going to participate? Full particulars on application.
